Toronto, On. May 21 2010 Brazilian powerhouse pharmaceutical company Ache Laboratories has signed an exclusive licensing contract with Canada-based Prollemium Medical Technologies to market the latter's 'Revanesse' Family of Dermal Fillers in the Brazilian market.

Ache received clearance from the Brazilian health regulatory body ANVISA for the Revanesse product line earlier this year. Brazil is one of the largest markets for aesthetic medicine second in total number of procedures only to the United States.

President Ario Khoshbin stated: "We are very pleased with the approvals of the Revanesse product line in Brazil and we are eager to move forward and grow the product sales in one of the largest and most proven markets for aesthetic dermatology."

He further commented: "Ache is the largest domestically formed Brazilian pharmaceutical company and is in a unique position to profit from the current growth in this space. We hope that this will be a long and mutually beneficial relationship."
